| About Convergence |

Convergence is the single event that annually brings together professionals in information technology, academic libraries, online learning, and instructional design from all the public and private colleges and universities in Kentucky and the surrounding states. Sponsored by Kentucky post-secondary institutions and private sector partners, Kentucky Convergence is a conference that emphasizes innovations and best practices in the fastest-growing areas of higher education.

The Kentucky Convergence Conference is managed and led by Kentucky higher education professionals. The conference steering committee is made up of representatives from Kentucky's public universities, the Kentucky Community and Technical College System, the Council on Post-secondary Education, the Center for Rural Development, and the Association of Independent Kentucky Colleges and Universities, which represents twenty member institutions.

| Call for Proposals |

The theme for this year's Convergence Conference is "The Next Reality: Doing it Farther, Faster, and Better." New tools, technologies, techniques, and requirements are constantly emerging, leading us to evaluate what we are doing and how we can do it farther, faster, and better. The program committee invites proposals that will engage, educate, and inspire those in attendance.

Examples of potential topics:

- Meeting standards and regulations (Next Reality)
- Addressing the needs of students who live at a distance (Farther)
- Being more efficient in our workflow (Faster)
- Any type of best practices (Better)
- Shared concerns for Kentucky institutions (Next Reality)
- Technology infrastructure (Farther, Faster, Better)
- Cloud storage and security (Better)
- Advances in online learning and instructional design (Farther)

Presenters and attendees at the Kentucky Convergence Conference will include leaders, innovators, managers, and decision-makers from the Information Technology, Library, and Distance Learning units of Kentucky's colleges and universities.
